from Hobart

1 Look-in Lookout

Even rusty old machinery, half-buried under bark and moss, tells a story – of pioneer foresters, tall trees and timber. Walk quietly – listen for echoes of the past in the bush.

2 Arve Picnic Ground

A scenic and peaceful spot to pause for a cuppa by the waters of the Arve River. Follow the forest track and listen to birdsong – can you spot a platypus?

3 Keogh's Creek Walk

A metal walkway takes you on a loop track across, above and alongside a lovely forest creek, through patches of rainforest and near the gnarled trunks of mighty eucalypt trees.

4 Big Tree Lookout

With roots deep in the earth and head high in the sky, this mighty stringybark is one of the biggest trees in the forest – eucalypts are the world's tallest flowering plants.
